

The board of directors of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU) seeks a dynamic, energetic leader to succeed Dr. Muriel Howard who will be retiring after 9 years of leading AASCU. AASCU is a presidentially based association of state regional universities across the United States.

The new president must be a person with exceptional vision and leadership ability, who can continue Dr. Howard's legacy of advocacy for the public mission of AASCU institutions, their communities, and their students. He or she should be a consultative and collaborative leader with a deep understanding of the challenges and opportunities facing members of the association during a period of economic uncertainty and societal changes. Individuals with a record of active engagement in the work of the association are particularly encouraged to apply.

Screening of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. However, only applications received by September 29 can be assured full consideration. Materials should be submitted to AASCUPresident@academic-search.com. Confidential conversations may be obtained by contacting either of the consultants assisting this search; Jessica Kozloff (jsk@academic-search.com) or Jay Lemons (jay@academic-search.com). Additional information about the position can be found at <http://academic-search.com/current-searches>.
