

Dean of the College of Business Administration

The University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNO) invites applications and nominations for the position of Dean of the College of Business Administration (CBA). UNO seeks a dynamic, visionary leader to build on the college's existing success and partner with faculty, students, staff, and external stakeholders toward further excellence. Reporting to and working with the Senior Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and faculty, the dean's responsibility is to advance the mission and vision of UNO and the College of Business Administration.

The University of Nebraska at Omaha became part of the University of Nebraska system in 1968, and has emerged as the region's premier metropolitan university, committed to teaching, research, and service. UNO has long set the pace for higher education in Nebraska and continues to offer an academically rigorous experience to a diverse community. The AACSB-accredited College of Business Administration is one of six colleges at UNO and enrolls approximately 1,800 undergraduate students and 500 graduate students. In addition to a strong undergraduate program, the UNO College of Business Administration has four highly regarded graduate programs (MBA, Executive MBA, Master of Economics and Master of Accounting) and a mature non-credit executive education curriculum.

The dean serves as the chief executive officer for the UNO College of Business Administration and leads the strategic planning and decision-making for the collegiate unit based on the UNO College of Business Administration's faculty-approved strategic plan, and works to strengthen the value proposition of the UNO College of Business Administration. Working with the faculty and staff, the dean leads the college's efforts to develop new programs and supports the continuous improvement of existing programs. She or he is a champion for student recruitment and retention, as a part of the team responsible for all UNO recruitment. The dean serves as the liaison to the rest of the UNO campus, the other campuses in the University of Nebraska system, and other partners in the United States and throughout the world. As the college's primary external representative, the dean also leads the development activities of the college in partnership with the University of Nebraska Foundation.

The next dean of the UNO College of Business Administration will hold a minimum of a graduate degree and will also possess a distinguished record of leadership and professional accomplishments.
