The academic program of UMES is delivered through five schools: the School of Agricultural and Natural Sciences; School of Business and Technology; School of Education, Social Sciences, and the Arts; School of Pharmacy and Health Professions; and the School of Graduate Studies. In addition, UMES has 36 linkage agreements with universities, government organizations, and research institutions in Africa, the Caribbean, Central America, South America, Europe and Asia. These linkages enhance the University's international education focus through: (1) student study and research abroad, (2) faculty and student exchanges, (3) international scholar-in-residence, and (4) international development programs.

Outside of the classroom, UMES students enjoy more than 60 organizations including clubs, service organizations, experiential learning opportunities, intramural sports teams and Greek life. UMES is a member of the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference and student athletes compete on NCAA Division I intercollegiate teams. UMES has over 12,000 alumni, who live in all 50 United States as well as more than a dozen U.S. Territories and foreign countries.
